

PRINCE GEORGE'S COUNTY

HISTORIC SITE SUMMARY SHEET

Survey #: P.G. #82A-12 Building Date: 1850's

Building Name: Benjamin F. Duvall House at Trumps Hill

Location: 8103 Trumps Hill Road, Upper Marlboro, Maryland

Private/Residence/Occupied/Good/Inaccessible

Description:

The Duvall house at Trumps Hill is a three-part frame building set high on a hill. The main block is a nearly square three bay-by-two-bay pyramidal-roofed structure. Entrance is in the third bay of the three-bay east facade through a door with five-pane transom and three-pane sidelights. At the south facade of the main block are two large chimney stacks, originally exterior, but now enclosed by the south wing. The main block is sided with wide board painted white. Windows are 6/6 with plain board surrounds; the cornice is boxed and the roof is covered with asphalt shingle. Built onto the south facade of the main block and thereby enclosing the chimneys, is a two-bay, two-story, shed-roof addition. Extending west from the south wing, and forming an ell, is a one-and-one-half-story kitchen wing. It has a gable roof and is two bays by two bays. It is sided with wide horizontal boards on the first story, and with vertical board-and-batten siding at loft level in the south gable end. There is a new exterior brick chimney centered at the west gable end. Across the south facade of this kitchen wing is a one-story, shed-roof porch which continues the line of the roof.

Significance

The Duvall house at Trumps Hill is a good example of an early Victorian plantation-house style which was popular in mid-nineteenth century Prince George's County. This style (square, frame, and pyramidal roofed, with side-hall-and-double-parlor plan) is exemplified in three important houses in the Marlboro vicinity: the Richard W. Bowie house at Groome's Lot, the William Elliott house at Cool Spring Manor, and the Benjamin F. Duvall house at Trumps Hill. The Duvall house was constructed in the mid-1850's for Benjamin Franklin Duvall on part of his father's land holdings. In 1865 Benjamin Duvall, the father, died; his will devised Trumps Hill where his son Benjamin F. Duvall then lived to the latter's children, with a life estate to their father. Benjamin F. Duvall served as a Judge of the Orphans Court, and lived in the house at Trumps Hill until his death in 1921. The property was sold in 1941, and was acquired in 1950 by Zantzinger and Hill who subdivided and developed part of the tract. The house and ca. 5 acres were purchased in 1964 by a member of the Duvall family. Like the Bowie house at Groome's Lot, a shed addition has been built onto the main block, but in the case of the Duvall house, this addition connected the main block with a kitchen which probably predated the main block. Although the house has been considerably altered, it still exemplifies a once-popular style of Prince George's County architecture.

Prepare both a summary paragraph and a general description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The Duvall house at Trumps Hill is a three-part frame building set high on a hill and accessible from Trumps Hill Road. The main block is a nearly square three bay-by-two-bay hipped (pyramidal) roof structure. Entrance is in the third bay of the three-bay (main) east facade through a door with five-pane transom and three-pane sidelights. The surround of this door has pilasters and broken pediment architrave; the approach to the door is a (new) brick stoop. The door leads into a side (north) stairhall which runs through the main block to a door in the first bay of the west facade. This rear door has a (new) surround with fluted pilasters and is sheltered by a small pedimented canopy supported by plain posts. At the south facade of the main block are two large chimney stacks, originally exterior, but now enclosed by the south wing. These chimneys serve fireplaces in the two south parlors. The staircase in the adjoining passage has a large turned newel and turned balusters; interior surrounds of doors and windows have a plain frieze with cyma reversa crown molding. The main block is sided with wide board painted white. Windows are 6/6 double hung sash with plain board surrounds and black louvered shutters. The cornice is boxed and the roof is covered with asphalt shingle. The building rests on a high brick foundation, parged with concrete, which encloses a basement space.

Built onto the south facade of the main block and thereby enclosing the chimney, is a two-bay, two-story, shed-roof addition; its roof at its highest point joins the cornice of the main block. The siding and windows of this shed-roof wing are like those of the main block. On the south facade of the wing, however, the two bays consist of paired 6/6 windows on the first story, and there are no shutters.

Extending west from the south wing, and forming an ell, is a one-and-one-half-story kitchen wing. It has a gable roof and is two bays by two bays. It is sided with wide horizontal boards on the first story, and with vertical board-and-batten siding (all painted white) at loft level in the south gable end. There is a (new) exterior brick chimney centered at the west gable end. Across the south facade of this kitchen wing is a one-story, shed-roof porch which continues the line of the roof. The porch rests on concrete blocks (infilled with lattice), and has plain square posts and balusters. The fenestration of the south facade appears to have been altered; it now consists of four bays; two doors close together in the center, flanked by two 6/6 double hung sash windows. Both wings rest on parged brick foundations, and have asphalt shingle roofs.

The lane which enters the Trumps Hill property from Trumps Hill Road circles around behind and to the west of the house. Bordering this lane on the west is a new gable-roofed garage and a small frame outbuilding. To the south is a gable roofed bank barn, built of concrete block and with a metal roof.

The Duvall house at Trumps Hill is a good example of an early Victorian plantation-house style which was popular in mid-nineteenth century Prince George's County. This style (square, frame, and pyramidal roofed, with side-hall-and-double-parlor plan) is exemplified in three important houses in the Marlboro vicinity: the Richard W. Bowie house at Groome's Lot (P.G. #78-5a), the William Elliott house at Cool Spring Manor (P.G. #74B-16b), and the Benjamin F. Duvall house at Trumps Hill, all constructed in the 1850's. The Duvall house was constructed in the mid-1850's for Benjamin Franklin Duvall on part of his father's land holdings. The tract on which it stood was Timberly, later known as Trumps Hill. Benjamin F. Duvall married in 1854, and the house was constructed shortly thereafter.<sup>1</sup> In 1865 Benjamin Duvall, the father, died; his will devised the 260 acres of Trumps Hill where his son Benjamin Franklin Duvall then lived to the latter's children, with a life estate to their father (his son).<sup>2</sup>

Benjamin F. Duvall served as a Judge of the Orphans Court, and lived in the house at Trumps Hill until his death in 1921.<sup>3</sup> In the late 1930's the Prince George's County Court of Equity decreed that the land be sold in order to effect a partition between the heirs of Duvall's children. At that time the Trumps Hill farm was described as including the main dwelling, three tenant houses, three barns, a stable, granary and cow barn, all in fairly bad condition.<sup>4</sup> The 226 acre property was sold in 1941, and changed hands several times before it was acquired in 1950 by Zantzinger and Hill who subdivided and developed a large part of the tract. Forty acres (lot 18), including the dwelling and outbuildings, were left undeveloped and sold to the Chaney family who undertook renovation of the house. The house and ca. 5 acres were purchased in 1964 by a member of the Duvall family; a member of that family owns it today.<sup>5</sup>

8. Continued

Although the house has been considerably altered over its lifetime, it still exemplifies a once-popular style of Prince George's County architecture. Like the Bowie house at Groome's Lot, a shed roof addition was built onto the main block, probably around the turn of this century. In the case of the Duvall house, however, this addition connected the main block with a small gable-roof section which was probably standing on the property before the main block was constructed. This smaller section was rebuilt in the 1950's. Today the house at Trumps Hill stands with a complex of twentieth century outbuildings on a 5 acre tract, surrounded by modern subdivision housing, but secluded by its high elevation and natural buffering of old trees.

The house is a two story, frame structure with a low, hipped-roof on the main section. The facade is three bays with a two bay addition on the east end. The doorway in the west end bay has transom and sidelights, with flanking pilasters supporting a broken pediment. The windows are 6/6 double hung sash. On the rear facade, the doorway has a pedimented porch.

The two bay wing joins the two story section to a story and a half wing. This wing, probably older than the main block, has a four bay (south) facade. The two center bays are doors and the two outside bays 6/6 double hung sash windows. At the south end is a rebuilt external chimney.
